Banks Law represents the injured and disabled in Pennsylvania. The firm was founded by Halmon “Sonny” Banks, Esq. in 2013, drawing on Mr. Banks’ over 25 years of experience building one of the largest workers’ compensation firms in Pennsylvania. Seeing an opportunity to return to a more client-focused practice and retain a more active role in overseeing all of the firm's cases, Mr. Banks started Banks Law, bringing along a key core of personnel from his prior firm.

Conveniently located in the prestigious Two Logan Square office building in Center City Philadelphia, Banks Law stands ready to represent injured workers and those seeking social security disability benefits. Banks Law also assists clients with other legal matters by leveraging its extensive referral network.
